Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Brown have returned from a trip to the world's fair at St. Louis.

Woman's Clubs

CLUB circles throughout the state are interested in the coming annual convention of the Utah State Federation to be held during the week in Logan. Meetings will begin Thursday morning, but the Salt Lake delegation, which will be unusually large this year will leave on the evening train Wednesday. A flat rate has been secured by the committee and this will be good till the last of the week.

No pains have been spared by the Logan women to furnish ample entertainment for their guests, and among the attractive features will be an inspection of the Logan Agricultural college, luncheons served by the domestic science classes and a large reception for Thursday evening in the college buildings. The subjects themselves are made especially attractive this year, the work of arranging a programme being in the hands of a competent committee at the head of which is Mrs. E. E. Corfman of Provo. The convention is the eleventh annual and bids fair to be the most enthusiastic in the history of the state federation.

Following is the programme:

Thursday, 9:30 a. m.

Session at Brigham Young college building. Meeting of executive board. Presentation of credentials.

Thursday, 10 a. m.

Address of welcome, Mrs. L. A. Ostien; greeting, President Linford, Brigham Young college; response, Mrs. C. S. Kinney. Music. Reports of officers. Delegate to biennial. Director of G. P. W. C. Standing committees of U. F.

Friday, 10 a. m.

Session at the Agricultural college building. Greeting, President Kerr, Agricultural college. Response, Music. Unfinished business. "What Does the Modern Woman Read?" Miss Emily Jessup, Salt Lake City; "What Reciprocity Can Do For the Small Club," Miss Julia Allen, Springville; Women's club, "The Critic," Mrs. Wright, Woman's Anthracite, Park City. Music. "The Value of a Domestic Science Course," Mrs. Delinda Cotey, Agricultural college, Logan; Luncheon served by the domestic science department of the Agricultural college.

Friday Afternoon.

Devoted to seeing the college.

Friday, 8 p. m.

Session at the Brigham Young college building. Music. Original poem, Mrs. Mary Kelby, Utah Women's Press club. Music. "The Race Question," Mrs. D. H. Collier, Nineteenth century club, Provo. Music. Adjournment.

A very interesting meeting of the Spirit of Liberty Chapter was held with Mrs. L. E. Hall on Thursday afternoon. Further action on the proposed drinking fountain was deferred until the next meeting.

After the business of the meeting had been disposed of those present attained useful instruction in parliamentary rules under the direction of Mrs. Nelson, who by unanimous vote, was requested to continue the instruction at the next meeting.

Mrs. Harvey LaMotte, as chairman of the day, introduced Major Hill, who gave a very entertaining account of his personal reminiscences "With Butler at New Orleans."

Refreshments were served by the hostess and a pleasant social time enjoyed.

Ladies' Literary Club.

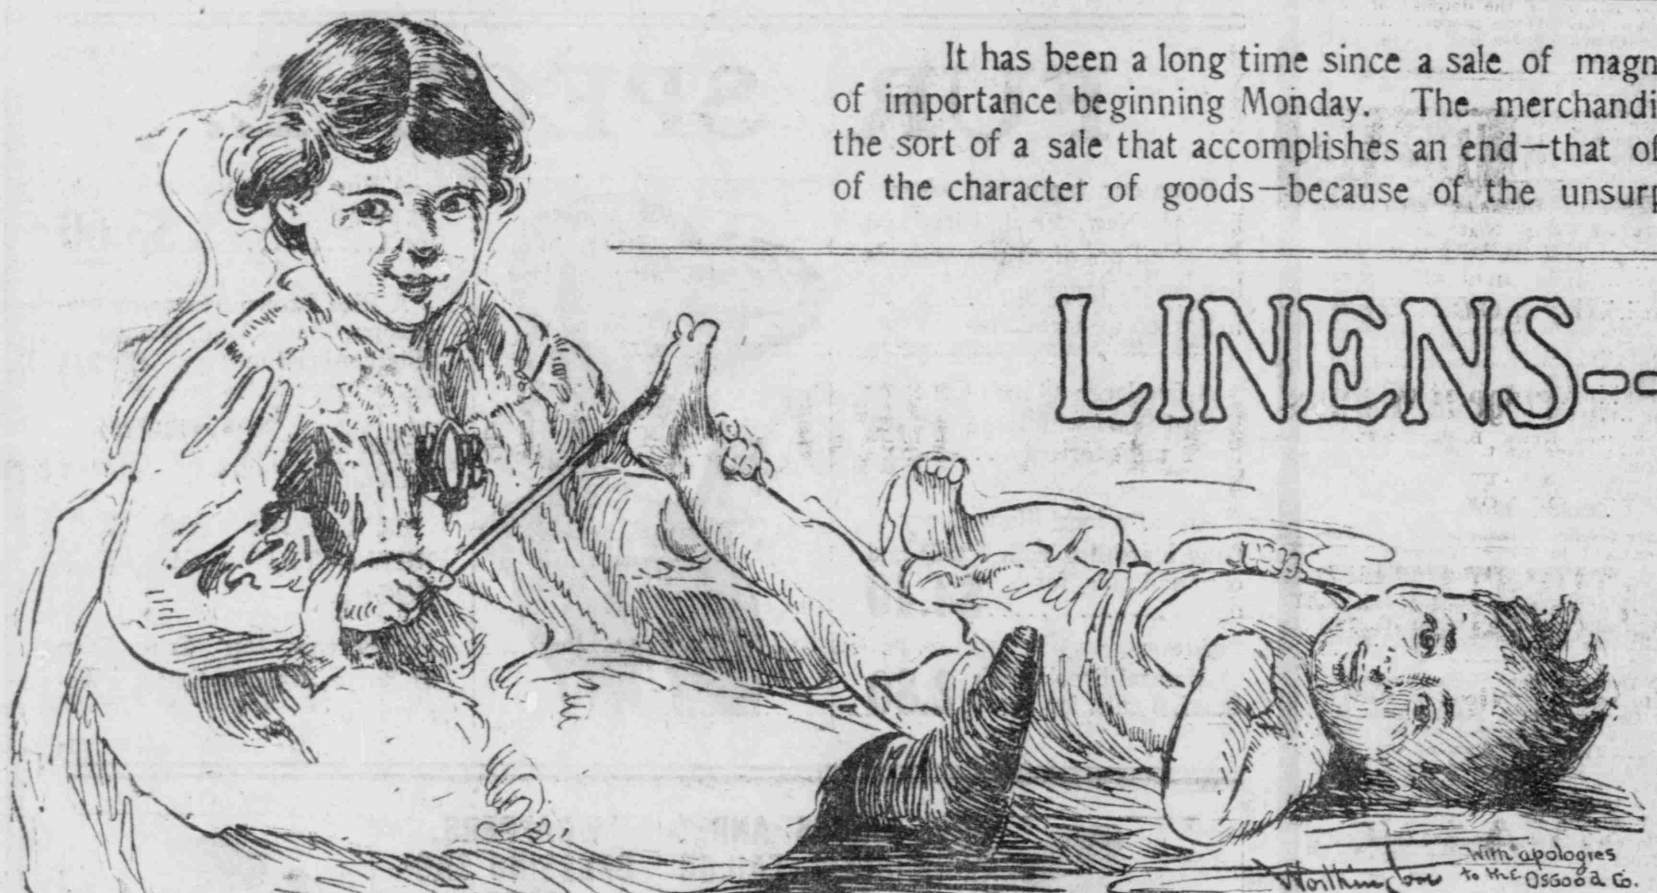

A rare treat was afforded the members of the Ladies' Literary club and their friends last Friday at their regular meeting. The programme was in charge of the Browning section of the club, and its members had prepared "The Bard" to present to the club. The parts in the drama were given to Miss Grace Della Davis, Mrs. E. J. Armstrong and Mrs. Frank Kelsey, and each part was sustained in a manner to call forth the admiration of a large audience. The queen was in the hands of Mrs. Kelsey, who played the difficult role excellently, and the two lovers, Norbert and Consuela, were both remarkably well handled by Mrs. Armstrong and Miss Davis. Accidental music was furnished by Willard Welbe and at the close of the scenes Mr. Welbe played "Romance," by Weinwieski, and responded to a hearty encore. Besides these fine selections, Mr. J. N. Cook and Miss Emily Larsen delighted the audience with two vocal numbers at the closing of the club.

Reviewers' Club.

The second meeting of the Reviewers' club was held at the home of Mrs. David Evans last Monday and two subjects of special interest were presented. Mrs. L. A. Wedgwood gave a careful and thorough review of the new book by Samuel Gardnershire, "The Crucifix," and Miss Lucia Snow read a thoughtful paper on "Concentration of Purpose." Mrs. Wedgwood compared the book as it inevitably must be compared, with "Quo Vadis," and said that the late book is not in any sense so strong as the work of Scudwicz, but is perhaps wholesomer and of the rising generation, whose thirst for literature of the period is necessarily aroused by history.

LINENS, DOMESTICS, WAISTINGS

It has been a long time since a sale of magnitude occurred in these sections. Announcement is now made of one of importance beginning Monday. The merchandise is new, clean and seasonable. The reductions are strong ones. It is the sort of a sale that accomplishes an end—that of really satisfying purchasers. We commend this sale to you because of the character of goods—because of the unsurpassed bargains.

LINENS--

We give you your money's worth every day. This exceptional sale means that you will be given values out of the ordinary. Our linens are of excellent quality. Nothing shoddy is carried. Every statement as to price is a fact. Every reduction is dependable.

It is well to anticipate Thanksgiving and Christmas purchases because of the great saving at this time. Similar reductions to those indicated below extend throughout the department. To fully appreciate the goods and the reductions examination is necessary.

Linens hemstitched table sets consisting of one cloth and one dozen napkins are a special as follows:

A further reduction, is now made from these prices—ONE-FIFTH LESS THAN THE REDUCED PRICES. Sizes, 2 1/2 yards to 3 1/2 yards long.

Cold Weather Comforts.

We all love the good old home-made things, that can be depended upon. Right now a feature is being made of comforts—the sort that keep you warm. They are superior made and better than Eastern made goods—and larger, too. Perfectly clean laminated cotton and the best of materials in every way are used in their construction. A number of extra inches added to their length. These splendid comforts are sold lower than regular ones, the prices running $2.00, $2.50, $2.75, $3.00 and $3.50.

Warm Blankets.

Cheap, creep creep, stronger comes the chilly night air. These blankets are a tip to the elements that make us shiver—they are so nice and warm.

Black Goods Sale.

Values from $1.50 to $3 for 89c.

Bona fide bargains will never cause the loss of confidence. This important sale is possible through an unusual purchase from a New York jobber.

Six hundred yards of new novelty black goods.

From price, style and quality standpoint the sale will excel similar opportunities.

The special price of 89 cents seems awfully low, considering the high character of the goods.

It is a bargain in every sense of the word. These goods were the clean-up of a season, and the jobber got a bargain, we got a bargain, and you will get a decided one.

The lengths are from 3 1/2 to 10 yards each.

To get values—real values, the qualities of which will sustain our argument—running from $1.50 to $3.00, seems strange, but it is nevertheless a fact.

It is such aggressive methods, such dependable specials, and the values backing up our claims, that has given us a strong hold on the people.

89 cents.
